

□ □ What is the philosophy behind the five pillars of Islam? □ □

♥ □ ♥ □ Beyond these five props, there are many reasons because each of them has its own specifications, but we will just mention common and general ones:

1-They make a Muslim state and confess slavery to God and His deity and this makes him avoid all forms of paganism and atheism.

2-They testify the validity of belief, because when a person embraces Islam, he needs to prove that he is truthful and this can be done by applying the five props of Islam.

3-Applying these props purifies a soul and helps it to get rid of bad manners a believer should avoid to gain people's love in life and God's satisfaction in the hereafter.

4-Performing these five props frequently gives a Muslim high qualities and good manners such as avoiding wrong deeds and evils and makes him do good deeds instead.

5-They give a believer Psychological balance, which is very necessary for leading a happy and a quiet life that helps him to meditate, think properly and make good decisions, discoveries and inventions which make life easier.

6-Keeping to these pillars helps a Muslim to remember and glorify God most of the time, this leads to tranquility of hearts, clarity of chests and ease of consciences.

♥ □ ♥ □ There are also many other religious, scientific and social reasons man gets from these pillars. Whoever wants to know more, he can refer to books of Fik'h and Islamic philosophy.